A whale of a chopper

Visitors gaze at the huge Sikorsky "Flying Crane" helicopter on display at the West Jordan Air Show 1992 on Saturday. The annual event, which concludes today, showcases more than 100 aircraft on the tarmac and in flight at Salt Lake City Airport No. 2. This year's show, with the theme "Flying History," features vintage fighting aircraft and rare models of planes and helicopters. It's a rare chance for the public to see these old planes in action. The "Flying Crane" is the largest helicopter in the world and will be retired from military service this year.
